

Southeastern Consortium for Minorities in Engineering (SECME)

SECME competitions offer an exciting opportunity for students to reinforce science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM) skills. These hands-on activities challenge students to persevere and excel while exposing them to real-world STEM applications. Events include water bottle rocket, mousetrap car, essay, artificial intelligence, logo & poster design. Please note most competitions are on the weekends and require some travel.